

[938]

LANGSTON HUGHES

A Negro Poet Looks at the World

JUST RETURNED FROM SPAIN

will speak

TUESDAY, APRIL 12

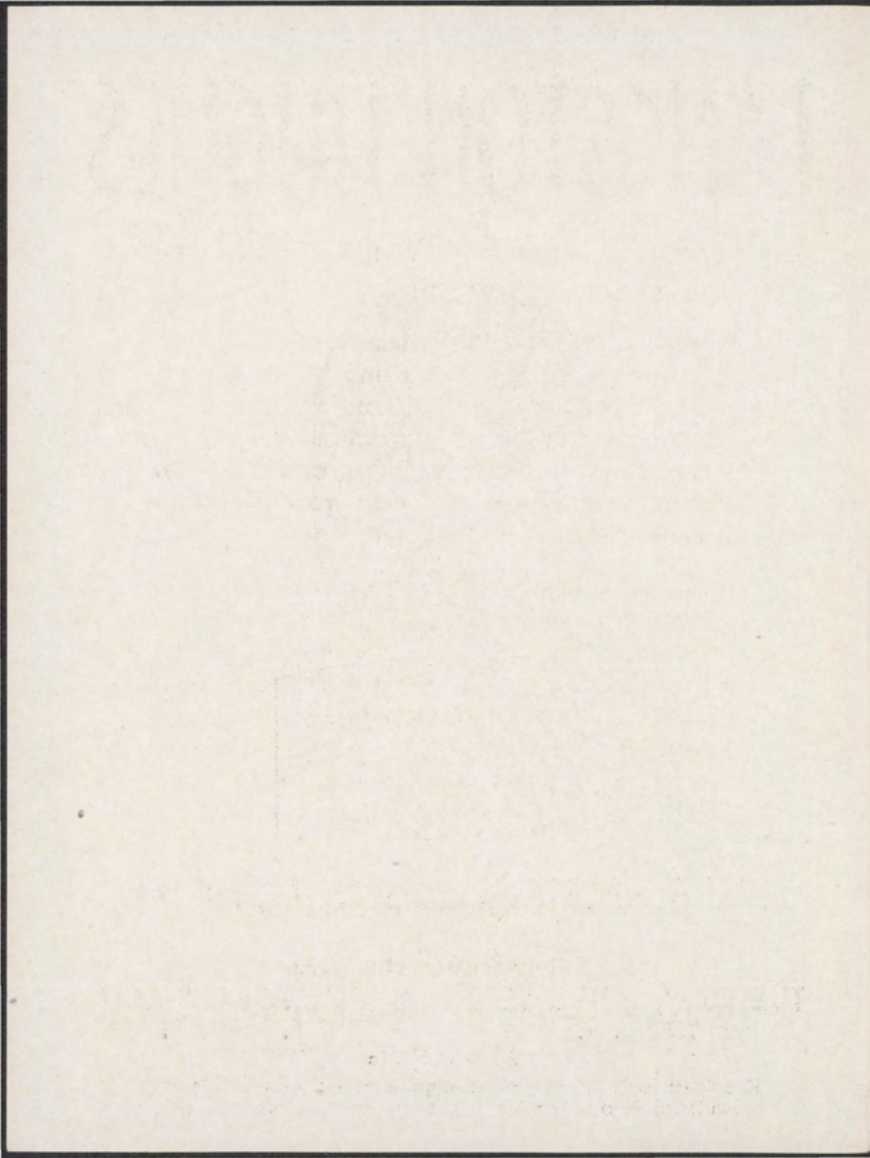

at 7:30 p. m.

2nd BAPTIST CHURCH

188 E. Center St.

ADMISSION 25c

Auspices: Joint Committee International Workers Order and National Association for Advancement of Colored People

LANGSTON HUGHES, the distinguished Poet, looks at the world today that is full of alarms, wars, and threats to world peace and democracy. The sensitive reactions of a talented poet and writer to these world events is exciting and unusually instructive.

LANGSTON HUGHES, famed in many lands for his poems and other writings, will look at the world through his poems, reading them aloud and describing the scenes and circumstances that inspired him to write them. Of greatest interest will be his new poems of Spain from where he has just returned.

Many of Langston Hughes' poems, and some of his articles and stories have been translated into German, French, Spanish, Russian, Chinese and other languages in newspapers and magazines. His book, "Not Without Laughter" has been published in Russian, French and Chinese and for which he received the Harmon Gold Award in 1931.

Don't fail to hear this distinguished Poet

Remember the Date

TUESDAY, APRIL 12

Seven-thirty p. m.

2nd BAPTIST CHURCH

188 E. Center St.

LANGSTON HUGHES, the distinguished poet,
looks at the world today that is full of clamor,
and instead of words peace and democracy,
The sensitive reactions of a talented poet and writer to these world events is exciting and unusually instructive.

LANGSTON HUGHES, famed in many lands for his poems and other writings, will look at the world through his poems, reading them aloud and describing the scenes and circumstances that inspired him to write them. Of greatest interest will be his new poem of Spain for which he has just received the Pulitzer Prize.

Some of Langston Hughes' poems and some of his other writings have been translated into German, French, Spanish, Italian, Chinese and other languages in new editions and anthologies.
His book "I, Too" (without Langston Hughes' own name) is being translated into Chinese and for which he received the Langston Hughes Award in 1957.

Langston Hughes Award in 1957

Langston Hughes Award in 1957

TUESDAY, APRIL 12 8:00 P.M.
EDMUND SPENCER and the Langston Hughes Award in 1957

